NOTES ON CRITERIA FOR ORDINARY MEMBERSHIP OF THE AUSTRALIAN PHYSIOLOGICAL SOCIETY INC

1. The objects of the Society are the advancement of the science of Physiology, the encouragement of all aspects of research and teaching in this discipline, and the general dissemination of knowledge of this and related disciplines.
2. The Society encourages involvement in its activities by all scientists whose interests are within these guidelines. However, while applications for elected Membership of the Society are always welcome, certain criteria should normally be met in order for Council to recommend election of a candidate.
3. In general, candidates are expected to hold a recognised higher degree in a discipline broadly related to the professional interests of the Society and to have documented research achievement and/or have a substantial record of tertiary teaching in their discipline. Broadly related disciplines include both biological and physical sciences. Documented research achievement would normally involve authorship of research articles in accepted international journals. A substantial record of tertiary teaching would normally involve more extensive commitments than those usually related to casual employment as a tutor or demonstrator.
4. In deciding whether to recommend a candidate for membership, Council may take into account the participation of the person in Society activities.
5. Completed membership applications must be received by the National Secretary at least four weeks prior to the business meeting at which they are to be considered.
